Fulton County CSEA recognized for Outstanding Performance

The Fulton County Child Support Agency (CSEA) has been recognized by the State of Ohio Department of Job and Family Services for their outstanding performance in 2016. For the fourth consecutive year, they received "Best Performance Paternity Establishment" in the Medium-Small Caseload Division for 2016. Additionally in 2016, they were named for the "Best Overall Performance" in the Medium-Small Caseload Division.

CSEA works for the children of Fulton County to ensure they receive the financial and medical support they are legally entitled to and deserve.

Jill Stechschulte, Extension Educator, 4-H Youth Development and County Director of OSU Extension Fulton County was awarded the Charles W. Life Excellence in 4-H Professional Leadership at the OSU Extension Annual Conference recently. This award is the highest, peer nominated and selected award that a 4-H Educator can receive in Ohio and recognizes significant contributions to 4-H Youth Development programming.

Stechschulte has been with OSU Extension for 21 years and has maintained traditional 4-H club membership of over 1000 youth ages 8-18. That represents over 21,00 youth in 21 years!

She has excelled in volunteer recruitment and development for both youth and adults offering trainings and programs on a yearly basis. Additionally she has been instrumental in creating "Camp Counseling" and "Miniature Gardens" Project Idea Starters, and the Cloverbud Group Project "Choose & Tell." Her peers recognize her commitment and leadership for developing and maintaining a county 4-H program that makes a positive impact and impacting the lives of thousands.
